Carroll was picked up near the corner of Center and Western avenues by the police and taken to the station where a search showed him to be carrying a half-empty bottle of "auto-rub." Judge H. L. Maxfield held him in municipal court Tuesday, and Carroll pleaded guilty to intoxication and was fined $25, and costs or 30 days.

That Carroll's little booze party may prove more disastrous than he probably expected, was indicated Tuesday, when it was understood he would be tried again for driving while intoxicated.

STATE SEEKS FUND FOR T. B. TESTING

Ready for Campaign in Rock County Among Cattle Owners for Test.

MEETING SCHEDULED FOR T. B. CAMPAIGN.

Dec. 12—Avalon, Bradford township, 8 p. m.; Magnolia Corners, Magnolia township, 8 p. m.
Dec. 14—Clinton village, motion picture theatre, at 8 p. m.
Dec. 15—Elkhorn, First Baptist church, Union township and West Porter districts, evening meeting, 8 p. m.
Dec. 15—Harmony town hall, Harmony township, 8 p. m.
Dec. 15—Lancaster village, Plymouth township, 8 p. m.
Dec. 15—Janesville, court house, for Rock, La Prairie and Janesville townships, 8 p. m.
Dec. 15—Lodi, Rockton, Fulton township and East Porter, 8 p. m.
Dec. 21—Orfordville, Spring Valley township, 8 p. m.

Through the state department of agriculture, Wisconsin stock men are asking the legislature for $2,000,000 with which to continue the campaign against bovine tuberculosis in the state. This is an increase of $700,000 over the amount raised for indemnity payments and administration work carried out during 1922.

Acting Week's Campaign.

With Newark township complete and Marion township certain to go 55 per cent for the county-wide test, the pettis committee has planned out an active two weeks' campaign to have the petitions signed in Rock county for a county-wide test. It is hoped to have the petitions ready for presentation to the state department by January 1, 1923.

The tangible results from having Rock an accredited county with clean cattle, clean swine and clean dairy products will be pointed out by Dr. Arthur Kilians, Wisconsin Livestock commissioner. At each meeting motion pictures will be shown giving an explanation given on the testing work and the dangers of bovine tuberculosis.

Meeting in Madison.

There is to be a meeting in Madison, Saturday, December 16, called by E. H. Parker, Janesville, president of the Wisconsin Livestock association, to discuss the county-wide test program.

With petitions now being signed and every evidence that the petitions will carry better than 80 per cent of the names of cattle owners in Rock county, it is hoped to bring sufficient evidence to have the county-wide test adopted.

Weather is the factor holding up the work or end in the spring, while funds are still available to pay the indemnity allowed for reactor cattle.

Center township will be organized for the farm-to-farm canvass of signers following the meeting held in Rockton on Monday night. Residents are also selecting school district representatives to canvass Elkhorn, Forte and Magnolia townships.

A big meeting is expected in Avalon, Bradford township Tuesday night. This section will be the next to make a canvas.

Farmers expressed confidence that the petition would be signed by the desired number after seeing the government film, "Out of the Shadows." All questions asked relating to the test and accredited herd plan were explained by Dr. Arthur J. Kilians.

Milbrandt Herd Developed With Foundation Stock

Good stock, correct selection of foundation cows are the main factors in building up a creditable herd of registered stock. This fact is brought out in most herds in Rock county.

Frank and Leo Milbrandt, Evansville, have a herd of 400 breeding Holsteins on their farm near Evansville, about as good a dairy herd as there is in Rock county. They started only Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe.

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus replaces it. Try it today.

INTERURBAN LINE HIT BY SEWER JOB

Special Bus Service Necessary Due to McKey Boulevard Tie-Up.

Six years ago and at the start adopted a policy of having and keeping their cattle clear from tuberculosis. They have been accredited four years and know the direct results from having cattle free from tuberculosis to offer on the market.

There are two 30 pound calves on the farm, one being Windsor Home, stock Oak De Kol, whose dam Windsor Sweet Butter Maid has a record of 35,300 and in five official tests made better than 30 pounds. The other sire is Faust Matilda Kordyke with a 22 pound record.

Both barns on the Milbrandt farms have been improved recently with new stanchions and lighting arrangements and a new sanitary milk house. Both are anxious to see the country buyers come to buy of good livestock for they can see a good market for all the good cattle that can be raised within the county. They have established an outstanding herd in less than six years. There are 280 acres of good land in the two farms.

Beloit Testing

Association to Meet Saturday

The annual meeting of the Beloit cow testing association will be held in the Beloit Y. M. C. A. next Saturday. Officers will be elected and the Rock county development program will be discussed. J. A. Clark, Janesville, will be one of the speakers.

The Beloit association was formed a year ago and has had remarkable success in developing high producing cattle. The Beloit section, a good many of the herds in the circuit have been culled and an improvement brought about by better feeding under the direction of Tester Smith.

One of the animals in the association circuit, a grade Holstein owned by Rockwell and Katterberry bids fair to establish a record yearly mark.

Except for testing, the abilities of the cow would have been unknown.

It's planned to establish a new testing association in Plymouth and Spring Valley.

Bekeepers Meet

In Milwaukee at State Exposition

Milwaukee, Wis.—The Wisconsin Beekeepers association will hold their annual convention in Milwaukee during the week of Dec. 14 in connection with the Wisconsin Products Exposition.

Among the topics to be discussed during the meeting here will be to bring about proper means of distribution of honey in Wisconsin; stabilize and strengthen the honey market in this state; provide uniform containers with state association label; establish uniform prices.

Poland Association Meeting in Janesville

Poland-China breeders of Rock county will hold their annual meeting in the court house, Janesville, next Saturday at 2 p. m. A program of association work will be mapped out and the organization reorganized to push the Polands more to the position they deserve in and near Rock county.

The Polands rank high in popularity in the county and merit more association boosting. Rock county has many herds of the black swine and there are at least 50 herds of registered hogs in the county and as many more herds headed by registered Poland sows.

During the meeting the association will be urged to name a representative to push a Poland-China pig club under the program outlined by the Rock county junior club committee and then to consider forming a show herd for the fair circuit in 1923. All breeders of the Polands are urged to attend the meeting to be held in the court room.

Credit Legislation Sought for Farmers

Madison—Amendment to the state constitution to permit the state to incur indebtedness for the purpose of extending credit to farmers, will again be proposed to the legislature by Senator C. H. Warden of Ashland. The 1921 legislature passed by Senator Warden's first resolution and now it must again be accepted by both houses before going to the people. It is his belief that the extension of credit to the farmers would not work for the upbuilding of northern Wisconsin, where settlers are attempting to farm farms out of the vast area of cut-over land.

23,000 Drop in Horse Population

The horse population of Wisconsin fell 29,000 during the past year, bringing the total down to 650,182. There are now 67,000 fewer horses than in 1915 the peak horse year in the state.

Cattle increased 32,000 during the year, according to the same report. This increase was partly in young dairy cattle and partly in beef animals, bringing the total of all cattle to 2,812,521.

During the past three years period the average number of horses on Wisconsin farms was 706,000, in increase over the three-year average of 1915-16, 1916-17 and 1917-18. This indicates a 19 per cent increase in past decade.

Horse raising has declined steadily since the war, the report says the number now being down to 321,000 compared to 375,000 in 1919.

Decision Is Made Over Kraft Cheese

Jackson, Wis.—J. Q. Emory, dairy and food commissioner has been informed by R. M. Hoyt, deputy attorney general today that Kraft cheese made by pasturizing and reforming American and Swiss cheese, meets all legal requirements of the Wisconsin statutes.

Mr. Hoyt held that in his opinion that until the legislature decided otherwise, it was possible to make Kraft cheese to comply with the moisture provisions of the statutes. He said the cheese did not violate the Wisconsin adulteration law and that it does not violate the misbranding statute.

PRICE $2.40 PER 100 LBS.

NEW SCHOOL WORK PLAN IS SUCCESS

Classifying of Pupils Explained
by Whitewater
Teacher.

In an address at the institute of Rock county teachers held in the training school here Saturday, Miss Settie Sayles, Whitewater normal school told of new methods by which pupils are classified according to individual ability. This plan is being carried out successfully in the precious school at Whitewater. She said pupils are classified differently in different subjects, so it is possible for a pupil who is backward in spelling and for whom mathematics is easy, to recite in a sixth grade spelling class while he may be taking arithmetic with the eighth grade class. Through the proper grouping of pupils it is possible she said, to give each child the instruction that he particularly needs, while the bright child need not be held back by the slower progress of mediocre pupils.

Nurse Gives Suggestions.

Miss Alice Olson, Janesville school nurse, gave ways in which the health of the pupils may be safeguarded. She urged that all school children should have a warm meal at noon, and that any child who comes to school not feeling well should be sent home.

"A cold may be the beginning of measles or whooping cough, and a sore throat may turn out to be a latent fever or diphtheria," she said. "It is better to see a doctor than to bring home in case of any threatening serious devotions, than to fail to send the one case home that may be the first case of a contagious disease."

The importance of fresh air in the school room was also stressed.

The reading demonstration was given by first grade pupils of Miss Eleanor Hamming, Howarth school. Instead of second graders as stated in the program. Pupils who participated were Kent Austin, Walter Bancroft, Victor Little and Allen McCrae.

Musical Contest Proposed.

Mrs. Florence Hyde, Gazette Good Times club editor, spoke briefly.

Copies of the club program for December were presented for those who had not received this material by mail, and additional material including Christmas carol sheets and music theory was distributed.

Attention was called to the proposed music memory contest for rural schools in which prizes are to be provided by the Gazette. During the lunch hour, a representative of local music houses played several music record selections listed for the contest.

The talks given by Misses Katherine Land and Ruth Jones, Jefferson school teachers, were professionally helpful to the rural teachers. Several reels of motion pictures illustrating well known poems and other literature concluded the day's program.

No classes were held at the training school Monday owing to the fact that students attended the institute Saturday.

Judge Grimm helped James Shewry, Harmony township, out of a peculiar tangle involving ownership of his farm taken in a trade for property in Janesville, by perfecting his will which will permit him to secure a mortgage with a Milwaukee bank, heretofore refused.

The action was brought against Nettie Fanning, widow of Miles C. Fanning Sr., and involved the interests of Mrs. Mary Dooley, a daughter of Miles Fanning Sr. Shewry secured the 160 acres from Miles C. Fanning Sr. and his second wife on Nov. 2, 1921. The Fannings acquired two houses and lots in Janesville and gave $327 additional. Previous to his second marriage, Miles Fanning Sr. had deeded the property which was included in what Shewry purchased to his four children: Miles, James, Mary Fanning, now Mrs. Dooley, and Rosa Fanning. The consideration involved was paid in cash. The property was never sold back to Miles C. Fanning Sr. Oct. 19, 1920 by James, Miles and Rosa Fanning. There was no record of conveyance of Mary's share in the property. The court held that the conveyance made by Miles Fanning did not give her any interest in the property as long as she paid no interest and ordered the title to the property perfected for the plaintiff.

Divorce Granted

An absolute divorce and right to resume her maiden name was granted Mrs. Jean Fritzsche, 28, from William Fritzsche, 36, Edgerton carpenter and contractor, who made no answer to the complaint.

Mrs. Fritzsche, who was Jean Fritzsche before she was married April 25, 1920, rested her marital difficulties before the court in May after he had taken his two children by a former marriage, to his "folks' home."

He returned to Janesville where she has since been employed as a domestic.

Fritzsche, his wife testified, was making good money when she married him but used to pay him off so she had to live on her money in a pinch. His first wife's people made a fuss over her, she said, and the husband mistreated her on several occasions, didn't kiss her when he went out and stayed out nights.

"I couldn't have treated the children any better if I had been their own mother," Mrs. Fritzsche testified.

The court stipulated in granting a divorce that Fritzsche was to return the $300 to her which he had used.

COUNCILMEN FAVOR NEW TRAFFIC LAWS

Direct City Attorney to Draw Bills for Parallel Parking.

Drawing of ordinances to carry out recommendations of the city highway committee in regard to parallel parking and turns on main traveled highways, and a law to put a stop to driving over fire hose, was unanimously approved by the city council Monday night.

The list of the parking ordinance is that parallel parking be required throughout the entire city, except one block each on North and South Main from the Milwaukee street intersection and angular parking in these two blocks; that Milwaukee street at the intersection of Main shall be considered the arterial highway, turning is necessary for traffic on Main to stop there; and that on the business sections of Main and Milwaukee streets, one fourth turns only to left or right will be permitted.

Order for a new ordinance in regard to interference with the fire department was made after a test reading was read from Chief C. J. Atchison telling of trouble at recent fires. The ordinance now on the books, it was explained by the City Attorney Roger Cunningham, does not strike the offense of running vehicles across fire hydrants on the head. He was directed to draw up these new ordinances.

Charity Asst. Plea Rejected.
Routine matters included granting a milk dealers license to D. M. Schmitz and a taxicab driver's license to Albert Julian, a driver for George Vlakas, and authorizing City Attorney Cunningham to have removed at once the box car standing north of the St. Paul station used as an ice house by the railroad.

On motion of Alderman Dulin, who said he believed Janesville had as many agencies for taking care of the poor as any city of its size, the council denied the Christian Army of America right to solicit funds in Janesville. Capt. George A. Lindsay, Rainey, stated the purposes of the organization were similar to those of the Salvation Army and that the organization planned to open a station in Janesville. He later announced this would not be attempted.

Alderman Dulin again brought up the trouble with Hayes-Peterson-Mayes over settlement of $45 bill for construction of a sidewalk on Center street in front of the Woods property and issuance of two checks in favor of the concern was held up until the master is settled.

Hegg Gets Permit.

Hegg's Studio was given permission to erect a show case in front of its quarters on West Milwaukee street, providing plans were secured from the two store proprietors on each side of the studio.

Fees of the various departments were received and approved, this being done under one resolution instead of separately, on the suggestion of City Clerk Ervin J. Sartell, to expedite the matter.

The monthly orders were approved which included a check for $1650 for the Mierswa Construction company for work done on the Eastern avenue outlet sewer. The total due is $63,040.41, of which $17,010 has been withheld under the contract.

MODERN HOUSING FINISHING HOMES

Workmen on Job Preparing 24 Incompleted Places for Occupancy.

Twenty-four incompleted homes started during the expansion program in Janesville by the Modern Housing corporation are now in the hands of workers who are doing the work necessary to make them tenable.

Nine houses are all finished except electrical and plumbing fixtures and the other 15 are in different stages of completion, L. A. Markham said Tuesday. A small crew of workmen is employed on the job.

In addition, 54 houses completed and of these 30 are now occupied and have been for the few months. It was announced at Spring Brook that the homes being completed are for employees of the Fisher-Body and Chevrolet companies, who will come here in January, February and March.

No further house building program is planned at the present time, Mr. Markham said, although this may be given consideration as the development of the plants progresses.

The cold snap is delaying construction work on the Fisher plant which had been made to start laying the concrete floor Tuesday morning but this cannot be done when the thermometer hovers around the 10 above zero mark, it was said.

No further house building program is planned at the present time, Mr. Markham said, although this may be given consideration as the development of the plants progresses.

RIVERSIDE PARK FOR JANESEVILLE PEOPLE.

Janesville will no longer be without a recreation park. Thanks to the support and vote of Mayor Thomas E. Welsh and seven members of the council, those hundreds of people who live here and have no place to play or go for recreation will have one of the finest playgrounds in the state. It will be something for the future too, in the way of landscaping, laying out of ball and other grounds, and we are at last to capitalize our beautiful river.

We should have had the park fifty years ago.
By this time it would have been one of the chief assets of the city. But aside from the recreation facilities which the city has annexed the property itself is a good investment. In a few years it will not be far from the city and as it is, can be reached easily now. But patronage will demand car extensions and lines of travel which will carry the people to the park. There is always the river, too, making it easy of access.

Here is opportunity for the patriotic citizens to establish a zoo. We have in Wisconsin, what was, and still is, a great game reserve, with a long list of animals peculiarly of the state. In time these can be collected in the park and add wonderfully to the attraction there as well as to be of inestimable educational value.

Nor in this should the City Plan Commission be overlooked. The importance of the work of the commission is great and will have its impress on the city for all time to come. Careful planning, conscientious, the commission has earned and deserved the confidence of the public. When this commission gave its support to Riverside Park, the people believed in it and were convinced of the vital necessity for such a recreation ground.

The Gazette has believed in a park; it believes that every member of the council believes in a park and any opposition to the purchase may have come from the misunderstanding of a park's value to the community. As it is Mayor Welsh has cast the deciding vote and it inures greatly to his credit that he has.

Hereafter Janesville will have to make no apology to anyone on the park matter.

President Harding has put knobs on his stuffed club and placed a horsehoe in the boxing gloves he wears heretofore.

SOME BOY OR GIRL?

Do you want to make some boy or girl happy on Christmas day and be glad that America is their home?

The Gazette has a hundred boys and girls on its list now who need some one to play Santa Claus.

It is not a question as to parents or conditions for which childhood is not to blame. Here is a chance to spread happiness.

CHILD LABOR LAW.

There ought to be no delay in congress in carrying out the recommendation of the president that a constitutional amendment for a child labor law should be framed at once and presented to the state legislatures. Congress alone can submit that resolution and the amendment for the ratification by the states. It might not be necessary to do this with all the states in accord about the use of child labor in industrial institutions, but there are states, notably of the south, where it will be impossible to pass a law protecting children against serious employment conditions.

Therefore the greater need for a law which will be a part of the constitution of the United States and make it enforceable anywhere. Congress has already shown that it desires such a law and to make it constitutional is but a step farther.

Janesville has been getting some of the best moving pictures lately and these have been deserving of large patronage.

New York City has been all upset by the visit of the young American girl mayor of Fairport, Ohio, who achieved some distinction when she was elected and started to clean out the bootleggers and the crooked pool rooms of the lake port.
New York cannot understand how a mere sly girl with one policeman can keep a city cleaned up when with its army and its big man mayor, nothing is accomplished. Mayor Amy Kaakonen says the best way to get rid of the bootlegger and violate of the laws is to send them out of town and make them stay out. However, New York does not want to lose half or more of its population so it will not at once adopt the Kaakonen method. It is well here to remark that the Fair-port mayor is a Finn by birth and her parents were natives of Finland.

Canada is getting turkeys from Hungary. Must be hungry for turkey when they will do that.

Progress reported from time to time on the new buildings now going up for the Chevrolet and Fisher Body companies means much to Janesville.
Machinery on the ground and a program of auto construction which it is anticipated will be one of the largest in the country, will bring a different industrial atmosphere to Janesville, and

Basswood Comes Into Its Own

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington.—At least 80 per cent of the American born grandfathers and grandmothers in the United States are familiar with the slang meaning of the word basswood. That is because such a percentage of these venerable persons came from the section of the country in which the basswood tree is indigenous. The reason for the use of such a slang term was that its colloquial meaning reflected the opinion of the value of the tree. When our grandparents wanted to describe an utterly worthless object or even a person deemed to be worthless, such a person or object was said to be basswood, because of all the vast natural wealth which the pioneers found in this country, the basswood tree was considered of least value.

In the early days when the American pioneer went into the wilderness he had to depend on the things he found in that environment to fill his everyday needs. He must build his houses of the native woods, he must make his tools of native iron, he must weave his cloths of native flannel and must raise his own food. Such a civilization caused these people to put definite values upon all the products of nature. Everything had a value. Hickory was good for axe handles and ash for wagon spokes. Pine and all kinds of oak were excellent firewood, but basswood was discovered to be good for nothing.

Its fibers were too spongey and stringy to work into anything useful. It was not strong to withstand pressure. It did not last long and it would not burn well. Almost any other kind of waste wood at least would make a good fire, but basswood when set alight would sputter for a while and go out and what little burning it would do gave very little heat in comparison with other fuels.

So it was not surprising that men and women who must put definite values on materials and on people surrounding them should coin a new word for their language and agree that basswood should describe a useless object or a worthless drone. In the States from the Atlantic coast to the prairies and from Georgia and Mississippi to the Canadian line, the basswood tree grows in nearly every county and in this section the slang term basswood can be heard among old people to this day.

If this were a play, at this point the words "Enter Science in the form of the Department of Agriculture," should be written. To pursue the fantasy, Science would be a Prince Charming come to alter the life of Basswood, the Cinderella of the forest. The other day the Department of Agriculture issued a booklet devoted entirely to this "useless" wood. The booklet lists 630 practical uses of basswood!

The scientists of the department consider all the characteristics of a commodity and select the good points. Then they find the uses to which such good points can be put. Basswood is a wood of peculiarly clear appearance. It is almost as white as holly. Because of its spongey texture, it does not split and therefore can be used in small pieces. Such characteristics, on consideration, were found to be very desirable in the manufacture of containers for food. People want to have food packed in clean containers which will not readily fall apart.

So the humble basswood came into wide use in the manufacture of such containers as lard pails, candy pads, and pads for a variety of other foods. Its clear, white appearance was appreciated by housewives and manufacturers are quick to discover what the housewife, one of the best customers in the world, wants. Woodenware was the next development. Chopping bowls and all sorts of wooden dishes were made from the discarded basswood which would not burn and was no good for construction. Soon another household use was developed and basswood appeared in the form of children's toys. Here again its clear appearance and its non-splitting qualities were valuable. Also, it is light in weight and a basswood toy can be thrown much further across the nursery than one made of a material as heavy as oak.

Pursuing the household uses, ironing boards, wringers and other things used in the laundry where clean, white woodwork is at a premium, he was made of it.

Nearly everyone has seen the clean, white wooden boxes in which comb honey is sold, and, at least subconsciously, thought how much more appealing the delicacy appeared because of the appearance of the container. These boxes, as well as many other supplies of apiarists, are made of basswood.

Once the prejudice was removed, it was discovered that lots of things could be done with this wood if it were properly saved and dried. Parts of it were used for furniture. It became a favorite material for dowels, the little cylindrical pieces of wood used to fit pieces of wood together, such as appear in the leaves of the dining room table. Nothing, it was found, would add to the clean appearance of a traveling trunk any more than basswood and so it was used for the sides of trunks and partitions.

Picture frames and moldings, where a non-splitting material was necessary were found to be practical uses and finally, the outcast basswood was put into such fine manufactures as musical instruments.

One of its uses puts this material in everyone's hands. Millions of matches which are struck every day all around the world have basswood sticks. Here was where the non-burning qualities of the wood, which once made it despised, were capitalized. Fires are set by matches thrown away because they hold fire too long. But the poor burning qualities of a basswood stick would minimize the dangerous afterglow and the fire would not last after it was needed.

So the progress continued. Kitchen cabinets, tobacco boxes, shoe lasts, Pullman car finishing, handles of all sorts, thread spools, shade and map rulers, pulleys and finally even caskets and coffins were made in part, at least, of basswood.

In all, 630 practical uses, and every year new uses are being found. Even the stringy, ribbon-like excelsior which comes packed around dishes and other fragile articles is made from the once rejected basswood.

The total annual production is 250,000,000 board feet. The existing supplies standing in the shape of basswood trees in the United States is estimated at 9,000,000,000 board feet.

From the lowly position it occupied in the estimation of our grandfathers, it has risen to such a value that the Department of Agriculture now is advising farmers who have unused land to plant basswood as a profitable forest crop. It grows rapidly and, is indigenous over a wide area of the country.

How industry, aided by investigative science, has developed this commodity is repeated in scores of instances in connection with many other commodities and every such step forward adds millions to the total wealth of the American people.

To the market for goods and products and generally be a stimulant to business.

Germany still complains before the reparations commission that France is too harsh. Perhaps Germany forgets how nice and easy it was made for France during the time from 1914 to 1918 almost inclusive.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

MERIT.
Merit is a mighty force
Springing from a mighty source;
Envoy cannot block its way;
Malice has no power to stay.
Like the brook that finds the sea
Merit ends triumphantly.

MERIT.
Merit cannot be denied.
Trampled down or turned aside;
Does any binder and delay,
Placing burdens in its way,
But like every running stream
Merit always is supreme.

MERIT.
It will find the sea of worth
From the farthest ends of earth,
Springing from the humblest breast.
North or south or east or west,
Merit will come thundering down
To the ocean of renown.

MERIT.
Come no question makes of worth,
Of its humble start or birth;
As the brook comes to the sea,
Just as surely shall he
Who will make his merit known
Come at last into his own.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. WOUTON

THE REAL BOOB.
There's a whole lot of people who like you
And a whole lot of people who don't.
And a whole lot of people who'll learn to
And a whole lot of people who won't.

But if a whole lot of them like you
And a whole lot of people do not.
You must amount, surely, to something.
Or you'd be serenely forgot.

The world is a stage—yes the actors:
Our cues that will oft come unities,
But all the nonentities tread it
With never a cheer nor a hiss.

It's tough to be poked on the button
By Fate when you're making a try,
But it's tougher to sink through existence
And be a blank card till you die.

Oh, yes, they will love you and hate you,
Perforce as you rise or you fall,
But the guy who is out of the picture
Is the most forlorn boob of them all.

More and more we are convinced that it is very poor judgment for any poor man or woman to commit murder.

Who's Who Today

ELIOT WADSWORTH.

Eliot Wadsworth, who has been appointed as American Legate to a conference soon to meet in Paris to discuss the question of reimbursing the United States for the cost of maintaining an army of occupation on the Rhine, is assistant secretary of the United States treasury. He was appointed to that office in March, 1921. Previous to that he was vice chairman of the American National Red Cross.

Wadsworth is 46 years old and a bachelor. He was born in Boston and educated at Harvard. He became connected with a firm of Boston engineers and was finally taken into the firm as partner in 1916. He resigned in 1916 to take up his duties with the Red Cross. It is well known for his philanthropic interests in Boston and especially in the Edmondson Fund. He was a member of the Massachusetts voluntary militia for three years.

Q. Did anybody besides Washington have the title Father of His Country?
M. N. A. This title was given to George Washington.

Q. When a body is cremated how are the ashes of the person separated from those of the clothing and the casket?
A. F. C. C.

A. The heat is so intense that after four hours only the ashes of the bones remain, all else, including the structure of the casket, having disappeared in light ash or gaseous products.

Q. How many railroads are there in the United States?
H. J. M. A. It is estimated that there are now in use 20,000 miles of all sorts on the trunk line railways of the United States.

Q. Is it possible to make a needle float in water?
H. J. M. C.

A. A fine needle that has been slightly oiled or greased if gently laid on the surface of water will float there. It lies in a concave trough formed in the water surface. The water cannot wet the needle because of its coating, and so the needle is supported by the surface due to the surface tension acting in the concave surface. It is generally similar the insects which run over the surface of water are supported in little hollows in the water surface. Their feet are not wetted by the water.

Q. Are canyons generally deeper than they are wide, or wider than they are deep?
J. E. S.

A. Most canyons are much wider than they are deep. The Grand Canyon of the Colorado, for example, is as much as 16 miles wide at many points, while it averages only about one mile in depth.

Q. Where did Christ perform His first miracle?
C. P. H.

A. Cana of Galilee, a town in Palestine, not far from Capernaum, is famous as the scene of the first miracle when Christ turned water into wine.

Q. Is it known how many kings there have been of the House of Scotland?
N. S.

A. The French House of Capet has given 118 sovereigns to Europe, namely, 26 Kings of France, 22 Kings of Portugal, 11 of Naples and Sicily, 10 of Spain, 3 of Hungary, three emperors of Constantinople, two Kings of Navarre, 17 dukes of Burgundy, 12 dukes of Brittany, four dukes of Lorraine, and four dukes of Parma.

Q. Upon what basis do the heirs of Anne Jane think they should have title to the Trinity church property?
C. B. P.

A. When the Jane firm was sold to Governor Loveland, in 1917, the wife and child of Cornelius Bogardus, a son of Anna Jane, who had died, failed to file a claim for the estate. Eventually this became the property of Trinity church, New York City. It is largely upon these omitted signatures that the lawsuits have been based.

Black Cat Basketers Scrap at Brodhead Tuesday Night

TIGHT AND HARD GAME IS LIKELY FOR LOCAL CREW

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR

Having one victory and one defeat to their account in two starts, both creditable, "Fangs" the Janesville Black Cats hit the road again Tuesday night against Percy Hall's Pussies who will be little performing Tuesday night at Brodhead.

It will be a tough contest for the Bower city Newers. The Brodhead court, the best to be had that town, is a problem for visiting outfit. The home men know every angle of it and can play the ball off the corners to great advantage. The local R. F. Bs. learn that when they went to the neighboring town a year ago and took a beating.

The Brodhead team is fast as usual, the Elkhorn's American Legion squad. They showed it when they bumped last week by a wide margin.

Against this, the Black Cats will pit a speedy aggression. The Cutts learned by their experience at Freeport a week ago how to play the small floor and it is expected they will start with a rush Tuesday, using a short passing game, a five man defense and a wedge offense.

It is probable that Janesville will start with Babcock and Capt. Lamphere at forward in order to get the best from the opening whistle. Wardell and Kalsukas are the possible guards with Oakley at center as usual. Richards, Raubacher, Kehler and Manogue will also take the trip.

At the same time, the Cortez team rushed into first place in the revamped standings by outplaying the Ponce de Leon for three straight, four teams are tied for second and three for sixth.

Close games featured. The Marquettes won three from the Hennepins, one by seven. The La Salle grabbed two from the De Soto, one from the Balbons, one by five, and lost one by six.

CHRISTMAS SEALS MAILED TO MANY

Annual Sale of Anti-Tuberculosis Association Begins in City.

Christmas Seals, through the sale of which the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association annually raises large amounts of money for stamping out tuberculosis in the state, were sent to Janesville people by letter the latter part of this week. They were asked to remit money for the same amount them.

The Rev. George Williams, for many years in charge of the sale, continues in that office this year. In a statement concerning the work done by the amounts raised, he says:

"I would like to see a Christmas seal on every letter and package mailed in Janesville during December, and I know every man, woman and child in the city would buy generously if possible if they fully realized the wonderful work these little stamps are doing."

A contribution to the Christmas seal fund is not charity; it is really self-protection for tuberculosis is a contagious disease and the successful fight against it means greater safety for the individual as well as the community, state and nation.

"In Janesville one half the funds are retained to carry on local health work while the other half goes to the state and national associations to support the intensive campaign against tuberculosis and for health which reaches into every part of the state and nation. The traveling free chest clinic is one of the most important things made possible through the seal sale, and it hoped this year the sale will be even more successful than the one held in Janesville again next year. The state association has been unable to nearly fill all the demands for the services of the clinic, and it is hoped that this year's seal sale will make possible the employment of a second clinic team."

Report Great Progress.

"In 1908 when the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association was organized and the first sale was held, tuberculosis was on the increase each year, and was generally felt that tuberculosis was incurable and receiving a verdict of consumption was to the average person a death warrant. It was believed that this disease 'ran in families,' and that nothing could be done to prevent it. As a result of the educational campaign conditions today are decidedly contrast to those of days before the anti-tuberculosis campaign."

"Most people now know that tuberculosis is curable. They realize it is contagious, not hereditary, and that it can be prevented from sweeping through entire families if the person afflicted is very careful to protect other members of the family. There are now a splendid chain of sanatoriums where patients can go, thus assuring safety to their families and giving themselves the best chance to get well. The development of the public health nurses movement, which has been invaluable in fighting not only tuberculosis but other diseases, and improving health conditions throughout the state, is largely due to the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, which now conducts a training course for public health workers."

"Strikingly evidence of the value of the campaign is found in the reduction of the death rate. In 1908, when the state association started work, the death rate was 107.7 per 100,000 and had been climbing yearly. It has dropped with remarkable rapidity, and Wisconsin with a 1921 rate of 54.7 has a record to be proud of. The services of tuberculars have been definitely checked, but there were in 1921 over 1000 deaths from this curable and preventable disease, so there is still a big job ahead before the final victory. The penny Christmas seal makes it possible for every man, woman and child to have a part in this life-saving work."

"Last year's response to the sale gave the opportunity to give away 2,907 quart of milk to tubercular and under-nourished cases. It made possible a clinic at which 153 patients were examined and promoted the use of the country sanatorium. This coming year we hope to give aid to the staff clinic to be established at Mercy hospital."

EDUCATE YOUNG IN PROBLEMS OF LIFE, CURE FOR DIVORCE

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Challenge—Proper education of children in the problems of married life, as a remedy for the large number of divorces, was suggested by Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver, father of the juvenile court, in an address Sunday night.

He pointed out that in Illinois 59,000 divorces occurred last year, while 12,000 divorces were granted.

If the youth of today were educated to the problems of married life and encouraged to marry young and have sensible marriage would be more stable, he said.

Parents should learn that children do not take advice, because they would lose too much of life if they did. If youth were to follow advice, however, there would be no problem of divorce, independence and loyalty should be taught," he said. "Saying 'and don'ts' are the downfall of many. The mistake of modern social conservatism is too much paternalism and trying to prepare the path for the youth, where youth should be prepared for the path."

A conference of women of the county will probably be arranged early in January to consider the scope of work that may be expected from various types of workers and organizations and work out plans to secure the type of leader that will most nearly meet the needs of both rural and village communities outside of Deloit and Janesville.

Thursday and Friday nights entertainments were put on under the direction of Miss E. Josephine Fitzgerald.

Theodore Davy gave a vocal solo Thursday, and other numbers were a solo dance by Kathleen McGlone and a violin solo by Miss Charles Wilson. The program for Friday night was as follows: Reading, "Julian," solo dancer, "The Parisian Model," Lois Blackford, piano accompaniment, Mrs. Roger Cunningham.

Congregational church women report $1,000 as receipts from their bazaar held last week.

"The California Truck" the new mystery story, had its beginning in Janesville at the Bryant House. Read this story beginning in the Week End Gazette.

It was expressed by Alderman J. J. Duin and Lawrence Cronin, who believed to the last ditch to defeat the proposition, the former contending in the first place that reconsideration required a two-thirds vote.

Roberts' rules of order and the parliamentary rules of the council showed it required only majority vote.

Referring to the resolution passed last meeting submitting it to the people next spring and directing the city attorney to get an opinion, Alderman Cronin said, "I am in favor of that option."

That option should have been omitted. Let the people decide whether they want a park.

I think you'll get Riverside for quite a few dollars less next spring. The Gazette says we are using good judgment in accepting the present offer. I say you'll be showing better by waiting until spring."

Action Declared Necessary.

City Attorney Roger Cunningham had pointed out that representatives of the owners of the Riverside tract had an opportunity to sell to another party and would attempt to do so at once should the city turn it down.

Alderman Cronin talked so many times in opposition that Mayor Welsh, in alarm, called Alderman Cronin sit down and let some one else talk. You've talked on this thing more than the time allowed!"

Mayor Welsh and Alderman Duin exchanged remarks when Mayor Welsh said he didn't want the vote on the park to be close, for he would let his duty to vote on the strength of his convictions.

"Your honor, you're there as judge and ought to have nerve enough to decide it," admonished Alderman Duin.

Outsiders Give Talks.

M. O. Mount and Judge Charles L. Field, in short talks, urged the members to assure a park for the future generations of Janesville. Mr. Mount recalled past attempts to establish a park and declared that from his knowledge of prices, that asked for Riverside, an average of $18 an acre, was reasonable and that this was the best available site remaining.

"I am for a city park, too," said Alderman Duin, "but I am not in favor of paying a big price for a lot of hills and sand banks that will take $75,000 to make into a park. I claim the people of Janesville will be held up if the purchase is made."

Judge Field in his remarks took exception to Alderman Duin's statement, declaring that Riverside was a natural park that requires little improvement and which can be made gradually as the council sees fit.

If we are to continue as a wide awake, forward looking city we must have parks," he said. "No city worthy of its name can exist without its breathing places and parks. Ever since my boyhood I have walked over the ground covered by Riverside park, and know of no place in Wisconsin more a natural park. The land is rolling, the timber bluffs, and extends along the Rock River for about the two miles, a natural asset to the city of Janesville of which we haven't made enough. If the council wants to be blessed instead of cursed it should buy this park."

year. The democratic party under his leadership prided itself of the most "progressive." Mr. Wilson won his nomination at Madison in 1912 because he was a "progressive" and because the democrats felt that they too must offer a progressive to win the seemingly popular support that was attaching at that time to the Bull Moose movement.

Washington—Talk of a third party and "progressive" bloc has hitherto been confined to its effect on the republican party and has been looked upon really as a revolt inside that party, but there is reason to believe the "progressive" movement will soon break out in the ranks of the democratic party.

Woodrow Wilson's recent decision to take an active part in democratic politics, or rather his rapid physical recuperation which has enabled his physicians to permit him to dig into his correspondence and see callers, is significant of change in the mood of the passive silence which has characterized the democratic party during the recent outburst of the reported "progressives" for a new deal in politics.

Mr. Wilson is not by any means the active man that he was when president. Probably he will never be. But he is physically stronger today than at any time since his collapse. He is capable of at least two hours of sustained work every day and he takes advantage of it to write letters and see people. He has been seeing an average of one caller a day and some of them have old friends but some have brought him information on the political state of affairs. Every one has gone away with the impression that the mind of Woodrow Wilson is as alert today as it was when he was president and that his reasoning powers are as clear as they were in the days of war time chaos.

Domestic Affairs. The former president naturally holds close to his heart the international situation but he is much too old a political dinosaur to ignore the wave of sentiment on domestic affairs which made itself manifest in the primaries and the elections this Recruiting Campaign to Open Dec. 23—Many Activities Planned.

Private

radio speeches from Milwaukee to Janesville will feature a banquet of Janesville headquarter troops 55th cavalry brigade, Dec. 23, it is announced by Capt. Gilman Stoddard, in connection with a drive for recruits.

Address will be made from the Cram city by Col. James J. Quill, commanding the 15th cavalry; Lieut. Col. C. F. Sammons of the same organization; and Capt. A. H. Norton, cavalry instructor, U. S. A. They will be received in the cavalry armory at Milwaukee and Bluff streets been silent because of his illness and such letters have been written to friends he has written to friends who have touched generally on internal affairs. It will be the first that Mr. Wilson was one of the first to send word of congratulations to Governor Edwards of New Jersey in his election as United States senator on a wet platform. Mr. Wilson also congratulated Governor Al Smith of New York. Although there is nothing tangible to indicate that Mr. Wilson would command a platform of light wine and beer to his colleagues in the democratic party, it is much more likely that he will do so.

During the drive, a recruiting officer will be at the armory each day in addition to Capt. William P. Heiderman of the regular army, instructor for this district. Capt. W. E. Dutchie, Hayes block, will also accept recruits.

The cavalry is remodeling its armory at a cost of $300, putting in club, locker, supply and field equipment rooms.

Winter plans call for drills each Monday from 8 to 9:30 p. m. with non-commissioned officers in charge. The drills will largely take place in the schools in rifle, pistol and radio. Next summer, the camp will be able to drill nights at the fair grounds under new electric lighting equipment. In the spring, the camp will form a polo team not and is free to advocate its repeal or modification.

Progressivism and liberalism are more political phrases today without concrete definition. The republican group will in the next few months endeavor to make their theory of liberalism explicit. The democratic opportunity will come with the next 60 days as the various speakers prepare for Jackson and Bryan to inaugurate an era which may bring forth an expression on domestic affairs from the man who enjoys the distinction of being the only democrat elected to two successive terms in the presidency since the civil war.

over the instruments of the local troop.

Efforts are being made to bring Adj. Gen. Orlando Highway to Janesville to speak.

The camp has been divided into two platoons for the campaign in charge of Sgt. Robert Phennig and Sgt. Robert J. Koehler. Prizes of $5, $2 and $2 will be given the men getting the most numbers.

The troupe now has 56 men. It is out to get 50 more of an age limit of 18 to 20. Two-thirds of the dinner expense will be paid by the losing platoon.

Great Asset to City.

The local troop has 22 horses and $80,000 of other property and brings approximately $25,000 into the city annual through pay.

Remarkings that the people of Janesville do more for their national guard organizations than other cities of the state do for theirs. Capt. Stoddard announces the radio set of the state has been offered the American Legion for use at any time. He also called attention to the fact that use while we reside this fall and early winter of the troopers' homes by men and women free of charge.

During the drive, a recruiting officer will be at the armory each day in addition to Capt. William P. Heiderman of the regular army, instructor for this district. Capt. W. E. Dutchie, Hayes block, will also accept recruits.

Army Being Improved

It is announced that Sgt. Ernest Daetwiler has been commissioned a second Lieutenant. He served eight years in the regulars and was a sergeant during the World war.

Sgt. Stoddard left Monday for Dodgeville where he was to start a recruiting campaign.
